

How to Use This Manual

Read It

Regardless of the needs you have to address, the state of your plans or your operation, you'll want to have an idea of what this manual addresses and where you can go for the information you need when you need it. So, browse through the entire manual.

You'll see that each chapter separator contains a detailed guide to that specific chapter. In general, you'll see that each chapter addresses specific issues, that there is a section reporting experience of affiliates relevant to these issues, and, in many cases, an appendix of potentially useful materials and/or resources.

In browsing the manual, you'll also note that there is lots of white space. The manual has been formatted to provide ample room for your notes and comments.

Use the Sections as They Become Applicable to Your Needs

Not everyone is in the same place at the same time. While the sequence of the manual is designed for start-up centers, there is plenty of material that is applicable to centers already in some stage of operation. If you are in a funding crunch, Chapters 8 & 9 (Funding the CTC, and How to Prepare a Business Plan) may be helpful. If you're thinking of expanding your software library, Chapter 5 may give you some insights. If you need to replace or take on additional staff, you might want to look carefully at parts of Chapter 4, and so on. It is our intention that this manual may outlive your start-up phase, producing guidelines for addressing operational issues as they arise.

Please note that you are welcome to photocopy part or all of the manual in order to share material with colleagues for non-commercial purposes.
